New: IP-Consulting for Start-ups

IP - The core of any successful strategy!

IP - Consulting

IP is the key element of any successful strategy of a technology oriented company. TLB is now offering IP-consulting for start-ups. In addition to a free initial consultation, we offer an analysis of IP rights and IP strategy.

Relevant questions for the initial consultation:

- What is IP, why and how a start-up should manage it?
- How property rights would lead you to success?
- How can I protect my business model with IP?
- What could a property rights portfolio look like?
- How much does it cost?

Invention- and IP-Management

We offer support for start-ups and companies in the founding phase in patent management and analysis of the IP situation. We check the IP eligibility of existing (secret) know-how and the further IP strategy. We clarify where IP is absolutely needed.

In certain cases, it may also be important for technology-oriented companies to know the patent law environment of their planned business. For this purpose, TLB offers an analysis of technology fields, which provides founders with an initial overview of the IP situation for their company.

IP increases the value of the company

A well thought-out patent strategy is also important when it comes to attracting investors. Intellectual property increases the value of the company and often makes the participation of venture capital possible in the first place. TLB GmbH also assists companies and start-ups in the further development of their business and takes care of their intellectual property and know-how in the upscaling process. As a result the entrepreneurs have more time to concentrate on their tasks within the company.
